

national convention. I do not doubt, however, that in order to avoid all pretext for resistance, the convention itself will, in some form, provide for submitting (what?) the great distracting question regarding their social institutions, which have so long agitated the people of Kansas; President says ought to be submitted, Gov. Stanton says ought to be submitted, and nothing else, to a fair vote of the actual, bona fide residents of the Territory:

"That we extending our hands to no slave to be admitted as a citizen, and that we support the decision of the people, I believe that Kansas will be admitted by Congress without delay as one of the sovereign States of the American Union, and that territorial authorities will be immediately withdrawn."

And now, when the convention has done exactly what Mr. Stanton said, and have submitted the precise question that he said they ought to submit—Mr. Stanton has said that this would remove all pretext for resistance, why does he tramp through New York and Pennsylvania and stir up rebellion against the constituted authorities and prostrate the Democratic party, who are sustaining the constitution? Is it because he knows the honest heart of the United States in regard to the formation of the constitution of Kansas? [Loud applause.] And one word more. There are exceedingly humble and tender-footed members of the Democratic party here, who would rather be put in the law admitting Kansas and Minnesota than that the people shall have the right to change their constitutions. I desire no such thing in my constituency. I desire no such thing in mine or on my account. [Laughter.] I admit that two and two make four, but I don't intend to be overruled by your laughter. I am in favor of popular sovereignty, if you like it; but I am not in favor of it as Mr. Douglas expounds it. If it is true that this constitution, which provides for the admission of Kansas as a free State, is construed by him as prohibiting the whole of the people of Kansas from changing it before that time I am opposed to his theory of popular sovereignty. If, on the other hand, the rule laid down in the Lecompton constitution—that the people may alter the constitution at any time—is in my favor of it. Let me show you what that constitution itself says: "All political power is inherent in the people, and all free governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed for their benefit, and therefore may have at all times an unalienable right to alter, reform, or abolish their form of government in such a manner as they may think proper." [Applause.] The longest in the constitution is found in the people's right to be taxed, and that I am opposed to popular sovereignty. Now let us open up the article as an able-bodied private I claim to one of the popular sovereigns myself. [Laughter.] Another clause reads thus: "We reserve the right to alter or amend the laws, and we reserve the right to alter or amend the constitution; if we expect to be apprised of it, and I know what they are; I know that he who tells me that the people of a country have no right to change their form of government in consequence of its being defective is a liar, and that the people may have entered, though he is the father of the principles of popular sovereignty, I should say to him, 'Sir, I have been told heretofore that it was a wise child that knew its own father, but I was deceived.' [Great laughter and applause.] I don't think it is at all material which way the election went in Kansas. I have been told that if they were to call the free State men, who keep all the votes, and if they were to call the anti-slavery ticket the day, then it had better come in; but if the free State men had defeated them, it had better not come in. Still, if the free State men are defeated, the Democratic ticket is elected, I take issue with them. It is a matter of course that there is no party in Kansas; if there ain't, there is no State in the Union that has a Democratic party and I don't think any ought to come into it until it is a Democratic party. [Laughter.] I do not think it is becoming a man to go around saying such a party. I never was brought up to cry over a Democratic victory, no matter what you call the opponents of the Democratic party. [Laughter.] If the free State men are defeated legally, then the Democratic party is elected, and the State, and then we are at home and know where we are. It was the Democratic party that made California a free State clear down south of 36 degrees and 30 minutes; it was the Democratic party that made Texas a free State; it was the Democratic party, Wisconsin, free States; it was the Democratic party, that under the lead of Tompkins, made New York a free State. [Applause.] It was the Democratic party that made Pennsylvania a free State; it was the Democratic party in the Union. No matter what the friends of Massachusetts may say, the first act of the people in America abolishing slavery was passed by the State of Pennsylvania during the revolution of 1780. If the friends of Massachusetts say that we have not carried Kansas, I will run the risk of their making it a free State as they have made other States. They know the importance of it, and those other fellows know the importance of it, and they are going to come into Michigan as a slave State as sure as you add to bill the next presidential election, if they act under direction from hence without any reference to the success of this election. I don't think it is well to allow them to be by their own account!" [Laughter.] Here is the editor of the principal paper and the champion of freedom, the republicans say, has been brought up for $231 in advertisements, and he is going to get up a petition for the cause of freedom if his champions in Kansas can be bought up by the South for a quarter the price of a healthy slave. We democrats are safe. I trust General Calhoun will give certificate of citizenship to every man who comes in, and it is not a matter of consequence if it should turn out that the free-State men are defeated. There is nothing, then, in any view of this case—no matter who is elected, no matter what cheating is done, no matter how much opposition or rejection of the State. But, fellow citizens, these gentlemen from the free States that are opposing the admission of Kansas will have an account to settle with their constituents. I shall not be satisfied until I see the friends of the people my health and strength shall be spared, if the people of Pennsylvania are not made to understand what it is, that when a President from Ohio goes to Paris—a patriotic man freed from all jobs—a man proving a good man in the last years of his life to the service of his country, and in the first year of office is not to be sustained. I have no misapprehension about the success of this enterprise.

"It will result as all controversies with the democratic party have resulted—but at the same time it is of the utmost importance that the question be closed and closed now, as has been well remarked by the friends of freedom, 'If it isn't, there is slavery in the constitution, but nowhere else.' There are 150 slaves in Kansas, with 10,000 free-State men yelping in their ears all the time—"Run, nigger you are free!" [Laughter.] It is impossible that anything can be more quiet than Kansas is now, and all I can say is that I am proud to live in Kansas, and I am keeping a scandalous log. [Laughter.] And then it has been stated that many of the democratic party were to be seduced, and people have been hanging out of windows and standing in the streets, and the Democratic party are to commence. [Laughter.] It is due to Mr. Bancroft to say that he has passed through the ordeal without harm, and that he has been backwards and forwards several times to Washington, and that improper reports have been spread abroad. [Laughter.] In fact there is a stern virtue about him that forbids all approaches, and even the administration under the New England man never attempt upon Mr. Bancroft, and I am glad to see that the Democratic party are to have the same course. [Laughter.] In my judgment, fellow-citizens, the President expects to carry this question by reason and argument, and calling upon the opinions of the democracy of the country, and I am confident that he will carry your attention to another matter—the Dred Scott case. The Supreme Court of the United States has decided that question. I want merely to say a few words upon the subject. He was taken out of free territory, and he was taken to a slave, and then came back to Missouri and was taken a slave. The question was submitted to the court, and it decided that, not having asserted his freedom when he had an opportunity, he brought himself under the jurisdiction of the State, and has no right to sue in the United States court, that right being limited to citizens, and of course a slave was not a citizen.

After referring at length to the judgment of the court upon Dred Scott, and commenting on the remarks made by the Tribune on the decision, the honorable gentleman concluded by expressing a hope that the democratic party would unite in sustaining the President on the present question.

At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Van Buren was loudly cheered.

The following resolutions were adopted: "Resolved, That Marriage and Death" thus: "Hatched, Matched and Despatched."

SAMUEL L. RUGG, of Allen.

Wisconsin and Kansas.

The Milwaukee Daily News says all objection to the admission of Kansas now are based upon the alleged frauds committed by the officers of that Territory. If that constitutes a valid objection to the admission of a State into the Union it ought to constitute a sufficient reason for turning one out which has already got in. And submit to the people of Wisconsin that that State could not retain its place in the Union a single day after the adoption of such a rule. Frauds in Kansas? Why, there in Wisconsin, fraud is tame and inexpressive term. They have treason, perjury, forgery, larceny and usurpation, tainting every branch of the government—Executive, Judicial and Legislative. Kansas has started well, but with her three Legislatures and numerous Governors her record is fair, compared with that of Wisconsin. And all the crime which blacken and disgrace the character of the State, have been committed in the name of "bleeding Kansas." We are told that Kansas won't submit to the wrongs inflicted upon her. Why not? Wisconsin submits to wrongs of greater magnitude without a murmur. When member of her Legislature is detected in committing a forgery, he is permitted to resign and go home. Her investigating committee selects a clerk a gentleman who has had dealings with the La Crosse Railroad Co., of a character which should have exempted him from such service. Resolutions are introduced into the Legislature directing the committee to inquire how many bonds a Justice of the Supreme Court received of the La Crosse company? This justice is one of three men who usurped jurisdiction in order to uphold a violation of a law of Congress. He's one of the three men who with Bashford governor! Did he afterwards use him? Did this subtle and plausible Judge avail himself of his relations towards that poor, little, wretched insignificant man, whom he had placed in the executive chair to approach him with a vile proposition? We hope not. Let the exiled Bashford return and go before the committee. If he was seduced by the whispermonger, the serpent made to eat of forbidden fruit, he may extenuate his crime by exposing his seducer. According to the Madison Courier he was sorely tempted, but we cannot add, "Temptation sore; long time he bore." Ripe fruit falls without much shaking. Bashford eagerly caught the gilded bait. As when we think how the poor man was exercised over the wrongs of "bleeding Kansas," about that time we are disposed to make great allowances for his singular conduct. It is fortunate for the corrupt scoundrels who have wormed themselves into every department of our government, that our people have their attention fixed on "bleeding Kansas." No wonder that they oppose the policy of the President, which they know will restore to Kansas at once peace and quiet. Whenever the people of Wisconsin turn their attention to their own affairs, the day of black republican misrule will be numbered. Here under the exposure we made last fall against the false denial of the presses and speeches of that party, the people became considerably aroused; and but for those false and persistent denials would have cleaned the villians out. Now they find that the half has been told. Still they point us to "bleeding Kansas." Kansas is always played out. Wisconsin is bound to become an object of interest to her own people. And so Indiana.

The Monster Steamer Leviathan.

From an article in the London Times we learn the progress that is making in fitting the Leviathan for sea. The cost for completing her fittings is estimated at $500,000, and the time for months or to the end of July. No less than ten anchors are now required to hold the monster vessel at her present moorings—five at the stern and five at the stern, and each with lengths of cable attached varying from 40 to 160 fathoms. There are to be six masts in all, three square-rigged, and three rigged with fore and aft sails. All these masts will be composed of plates wrought iron one inch in thickness, and riveted together in the same manner as the sides of the ship, or a steam boiler of the strongest description. They will vary in height from 130 to 175 feet from the keel to the truck; each will be three feet four inches diameter at the deck, and each will weigh from 30 to 40 tons, of square iron or rigging. Each mast rests in a square corner of plate iron which reaches direct from the keel to the upper deck, and is riveted and built into all of the successive decks through which it passes. In case of its ever becoming necessary to cut away the masts, at the base of them all, at about three feet above the deck, will be fixed a peculiar apparatus, which, working by means of a powerful screw, is made to compress two sides of the mast together in such a manner as to completely crush them in, and let the masts fall over the sides immediately. All the main and topmasts yards of the square-rigged masts will be also of iron plates. The main-yard will be 130 feet long or about 40 feet longer than the main yard of the largest line-of-battle ships, about four times the strength of any main yard yet constructed, and several tons lighter than if it was made of wood as is usually the case.

IF we see it stated that the N. Y. Churchman will soon be changed from a weekly to a daily paper. This, when effected, will be the first instance, we believe, of the publication of a strictly Christian daily journal, either in this country or anywhere else, and will, therefore, mark a new era in the history of the religious press.

IF the Maine papers inform us that their Legislature has now come to the custom of opening the business of the day by singing a hymn. If their singing is to be no better than their legislation, it would be piously most fit to stop one's ears.

IF Mr. Schoolcraft says that he has never yet heard Indians "swear." They have terms to indicate cheat, liar, thief, murderer, coward, fool, lazy man, drunkard, and babbler; but, he never heard of an imprecation or oath.

ARREST OF GAMBLERS. The police made descent upon several gambling houses in Boston, at 10 o'clock Thursday evening, and arrested twenty-one young men.

IT is announced that the next meeting of the Southern Commercial Convention is to be held at Montgomery, Ala.

Watters in Boston.—The "Whig"
"Awakening"—Bro. Kallchoff.
Correspondence of the N. Y. Union and Advertiser.
Boston, March 12, 1856.

Here, as elsewhere, there is in progress an emotional religious revival. The religious revival is a revival. These have become somewhat periodical of late, occurring about the time of Lent, as observed by Catholics and churchmen, though these sects generally repudiate the church fast as religious observance. So they meet at the Chapel of the State Street Meeting-house, where, it is said, a large number met yesterday at 12 m., and called Deacon So-and-So to the Chair, who called on a minister to pray, who succeeded by the aid of a few gentlemen who were instructed to pray over the congregation. This continued an hour or so, when they adjourned.

Now this may all be very well, but it looks amazingly like corner-of-street, and house-to-house, such as Jesus himself manifestly censured. It is a revival, but it is a revival characterized by periodical and spasmodical excitement is not the kind that stands the test of trials and temptations. It requires to be often revived, and it is a revival that is a revival. Rev. Finney in his account of those who saw the have a hope laid up some where, being something entirely separate from and independent of character.

Mr. Kallchoff, of a certain kind of notoriety, finds a place for him, and he says he has decided to go to Kansas for the purpose of practising law, professionally, let it be understood. It is doubted whether he will succeed any better than he has in trying to practice law may be deemed a fair specimen of that class of pseudo gospel ministers, who having become tired and disgusted with the trite themes of the gospel, have become the heralds of partisan and sectional politics. By their fruits ye shall know them. They are a class of men who are misled under the teachings of such Judases.

OBSEVER.

From Kansas and Utah.

We learn by late arrivals from Kansas, that the Topekaites have not only been defeated in Leavenworth, but that in Lawrence, their notorious stronghold, Babcock, the anti-Topeka candidate has been elected Mayor by a large majority. This may be deemed a fair specimen of that class of pseudo gospel ministers, who having become tired and disgusted with the trite themes of the gospel, have become the heralds of partisan and sectional politics. By their fruits ye shall know them. They are a class of men who are misled under the teachings of such Judases.

YESTERDAY brought us from above, Hon. M. Harnett, Secretary from the Territory of Utah. He is on his way to Washington on the business of the President Buchanan, and he left Camp Bridger on the 26th of January; that has been forty-four days on the passage. He brings no news of any importance. Nothing had occurred in camp and no intercourse with the Mormons beyond what has been already reported. His journey as far as to the South Pass was unimpeded by snow. There they encountered a good deal of it and some severe weather. When they reached the level of Fort Laramie, the most difficult part of the route was accompanied by the rest of the route.

A DIPLOMATIC EXCEPTION.—On a recent occasion in Lisbon, at which a great many Catholic Priests of various nationalities were present, Mr. de la Torre, the Spanish Minister, made an allusion to his country, first in English, then in Portuguese, and finally, for the benefit of some who did not understand either language, in Latin. The priests, we would, would not understand the meaning of the words, but at the fact that a representative of the United States could speak any language but his own.

THE Kansas bubble cannot be blown up again. It is like a damnable element and army, stocks, which a year ago were puffed up and swelled to unnatural value, by the very men who were eating out the heart and life of the enterprises. A few speculators, who realized at once the danger of the situation, and who had no others left. It is as impossible to revive the Kansas delusion, as to renew the life and hope of the bursted bubbles of Wall street.

THE physical degeneracy question has taken a new turn. After showing how Americans have deteriorated in physical power, the London Times points to its own satisfaction that Frenchmen also exhibit great physical decay. This touches a sensitive point in the Frenchman's feelings, and the editor of the Times writes, "The Frenchman's physical endurance has been already reported. His journey as far as to the South Pass was unimpeded by snow. There they encountered a good deal of it and some severe weather. When they reached the level of Fort Laramie, the most difficult part of the route was accompanied by the rest of the route."

Gov. Wright.

THE Evansville Journal of the 15th inst. says: "We have a very interesting letter from Governor Wright, dated the 10th of February, in which he alludes to the importance of making known the agricultural and mineral resources of our State in Europe, which we shall publish to-morrow."

THE Topeka Constitution seems likely to die a natural death. An address of a joint committee of the Topeka Legislature says, for want of a quorum, the Legislature has adjourned, and the members refer back to the people the question of the constitution. It is a question of the people, by the purity of his Latin, but at the fact that a representative of the United States could speak any language but his own.

THE police of London have detected a new burglar's instrument of the most extraordinary description. It will pull out through half an inch thick, a hole six inches in diameter, in an hour, and without making the slightest noise or sound, or without unfitting the tool for an immediate repetition of the experiment.

A gentleman was once making fun of a sack which a young lady wore. "You had better keep quiet," was the reply, "or I will give you the sack." "I should be most happy," was the answer, "to receive the sack, but I give it to me as I wish, with yourself inside of it."

THE SLAVE TRADE.—The Delta's story about the re-opening of the African slave trade is not correct. It is a mistake, yet the Vicksburg Southerner says it has good reason for believing the statement true. Wild Africans, it asserts, have really been imported into both Missouri and Louisiana.

MARRIAGE OF COUSINS.—The Cincinnati Ohio Daily Gazette, states that a bill has passed the Senate of that State prohibiting the intermarriage of first cousins. The Gazette says that public sentiment is in favor of the measure.

THE Russellville [Ky.] Herald says that Gen. Haswell, who has been for some time past a patient in the lunatic asylum at Hopkinsville, is recovering his mental and physical health.

THE birthday of John C. Calhoun (the 18th inst.) is to be celebrated at Abbeville, S. C. An address on the character of the deceased statesman will be delivered by Hon. A. Burt.

Dyspepsia and Fits.
DR. TRACY DELORME.
The Great Curer of Consumption
WAS for several years so badly afflicted by Dyspepsia, that for a part of the time he was confined to his bed.
He was eventually cured by a prescription furnished him by a young druggist, who was constantly on hand a few miles from his place, and who was a native of the same town as he was, never failed once. It is equally as successful in the case of Dyspepsia, as it is in the case of Consumption. It is a remedy that will cure every case of Fits as of Dyspepsia, and it is a remedy that may be found in any drug store. It will send the value of sent to any person on the receipt of one stamp to pay postage.

NOTICE.

The Democracy of Center Township, Marion county, Indiana, will meet at the COURT HOUSE, on SATURDAY, THE 20TH DAY OF MARCH, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for township officers. By order of the Committee.

The Bates House on Fire!

Yesterday, about twelve o'clock, the alarm of fire was sounded, startling every patriotic citizen. The flames were seen to be issuing, leaping upward like forked lightning, from the bakery of the Bates House. Indianapolis has, perhaps, the most efficient and unparalleled Fire Department or Association in the whole State, the whole Union, the whole world, the whole universe. Promptly this aggregated combination of stout hearts and brave arms were on hand, stopping with their machines about a square and a quarter off, and without even a stream from White river, Pogue's run or any other quarter, spraying through leather hose or brass nozzle, the threatening element into nonentity instantaneously. There is no conceiving the damage otherwise. Certainly our citizens should cherish, honor and respect our firemen. B. R. Sulgrove, editor of the Journal, we understand, in his ardent and self-sacrificing efficiency, determined to protect and maintain his "altars and his fires," coming in the vicinity of a quadruped that was just then standing upon three legs, was, we regret to announce, pretty considerably wet all over by the squirt. Mr. W. W. Chambers informs us that the total loss to the Bates, as nearly as can be estimated at the present time while everything is in commotion, will probably not exceed one turkey and three pies. Fully insured in the "Etna," Hartford, the "Phoenix," the "City of Hartford," the "Home," the "Farmers Union," the "New England Life," the "Charter Oak Life," and in St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago and New York. By dispatches at a late hour last night we learn that all losses will be adjusted without delay.

INCIDENTS OF THE REVIVAL IN NEW YORK.

Next to the statement that a mad was converted by reading the New York Tribune, the following is entitled to rank as extraordinary:

"The whole number of converts is very large, among them is the distinguished Geo. Law, who spent so much to procure his Presidential nomination in '56."

Among the requests for prayers at one of the meetings was the following:

"A young man who is studying for the ministry in this city, earnestly requests the prayers of God's people in behalf of a brother living in Buffalo, who has not yet given his heart to God."

We fear that prayer will have little effect on that brother so long as he remains in Buffalo. Here is another request:

"A lady desires the prayers of God's people in behalf of a sister who has recently lost her husband, and cannot be comforted."

Perhaps the difficulty might be obviated by helping her to another husband. At any rate one remedy need not interfere with the other.

REVIVALS OF RELIGION.—We have published in the past few weeks frequent notices of religious revivals in the Eastern cities, indeed in the cities throughout the whole country. God seems to be doing His work. Morning and evening the streets of our city are thronged with people going to and from the different Churches, and notwithstanding all or nearly all the Churches are open (from 8 a. m. until 9 a. m., and preaching and prayer from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m.), they are thronged with people. Christ's spirit abounds within and without. Many, very many, conversions have taken place. All classes of persons attend these meetings, and never since we remember have we seen such a work going on.

Let the Church be continually revived, striving to fulfill its mission, and it will realize the prophetic declaration, "Be ye glad and rejoice forever in that which I create; for behold, I create Jerusalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy."

Mr. Dennis Louney, of the Indiana Central, was in the city yesterday, just returned from a trip West. He informs us that there is more travel through Indianapolis from the West East, than through any other railroad point. Since the Indiana Central has connected with the Dayton, Columbus, Steubenville and Pittsburgh route, a heavy business is done by the way of Zanesville, Wheeling, Baltimore, Washington City, Philadelphia and New York. This route is daily growing more and more popular in public estimation. Connections are made, too, by Cleveland, Dunkirk, Buffalo and Albany to New York. Time as short as by any other line from Indianapolis.

Mr. John Stumph, the watchman at Mansur's pork house, on White River, who shot the negro last some three weeks since, causing his death, was preliminarily examined before Justice Fisher yesterday, on the information of the Coroner's Jury. Mr. Stumph's own recognition was taken for his appearance to answer any indictment by a Grand Jury. It will be remembered that the negro Lucy was shot, while in the perpetration of a felony, by Mr. Stumph in protection of the property of his employers.

We are in receipt of the North British Review for February. Leonard Scott & Co., No. 78, Fulton street, New York, re-publishers. The contents of this number are as follows: Stanhope's History—Walpole and Pitt; Naples, 1848—1850; Scottish Natural Science; Logic of Induction—Mill; Arnold and his school; Proverbs, secular and sacred; Rambles of a Naturalist; Capital and Currency; Poetry—The Spaniards; Recent Publications.

PORTER'S SPIRIT OF THE TIMES.—We call attention to the advertisement of the proprietors of this famous publication in another column. A free distribution of $100 is offered to its regular yearly subscribers. This is just the time to subscribe for Porter's Spirit. Address the Publishers, No. 345, Broadway, New York. Specimen copies are sent free. The attention of Agents to the inducements held out by the publishers is requested. Price to subscribers $3 per annum.

BOY ARRESTED.—Yesterday, officer Leffer arrested a boy for committing depredations upon the Fifth Ward School House. Immediately thereupon the urchin's mother, we understand, pitched into officer Leffer with a brick bat or two, and kicked him out completely. However, he returned to the charge and bore the boy triumphantly before Esq. Sullivan, who dealt with him according to law in the premises.

PROGRESS OF THE REV. PATTICOT.—At one of Mrs. Kate Luby's dancing assemblies in Beecher street, New York, on Wednesday last, the distinguished feature of the evening was the Ballroom Schottische, in which all the ladies upon the floor appeared in the scarlet jupon, with the dress looped up over it, à la Queen Victoria.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 16.—Yesterday, an accident occurred, damaging a building considerably. A locomotive, backing up a freight train, ran off the track and over the side of the bridge. Repairs are already in progress.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Yesterday was another genial spring day.

We had another Spring shower in this vicinity last night.

Service in the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches to-night.

There is a demand for wheat in this city, and prices have advanced.

There were twenty-five cases of suicide in New Orleans during the year 1857.

The Sentinel publishes full telegraphic reports daily. No other paper in the city or State does this.

The Governor's Circle, we are told, is to be beautified this spring. Ornamental trees of many species and varieties are to be set out in it.

St. John's Church, Maryland Street.—There will be divine service at this Church every day this week, at 9 a. m., and at 3 and 7 1/2 p. m.

The Mayor's Court.—Yesterday there were two or three cases of intoxication, one for public indecency, and two for associating with prostitutes. Some fined and some discharged.

We understand that the Indianapolis Gas Company have made arrangements for laying between four and five miles of pipe during the coming summer. All the principal streets of the city are to be lighted.

ATTENTION! GUARDS!—You are notified to attend the regular drill of the company this evening at 7 1/2 o'clock. By order.

G. F. McGINNIS, Com'dt.

W. S. O'KANE, O. S.

Rev. A. Eddy, D. D., will preach the funeral service of Bishop Waugh, in Wesley Chapel, this evening, at 7 1/2 o'clock. Several other ministers will take part in the opening and closing exercises. The public is respectfully invited to attend.

The Pacific Hotel, WEST.—Dr. D. W. Strader, one of the proprietors of the Pacific Hotel, recently burnt at St. Louis, and who was arrested in connection with others, on suspicion, received a complimentary benefit at the St. Louis Museum last week.

RUNAWAY.—A huckster's wagon, loaded with eggs and butter, was played smash with yesterday, on the north-west diagonal. The animal attached started, and did this thing. Embryo poultry was piled in chaos on the other side of a fence before the matter ended.

THE OUTRAGE IN THE ILLINOIS PENITENTIARY.—Hall, the convict who attempted to procure his release by an attack on Crabbe, the turnkey, died of his wounds, on Friday night, at 11 o'clock. Crabbe was much better on Saturday, and hopes are now entertained of his recovery.

W. & H. GLENN, No. 3, BATES HOUSE, WEST WASHINGTON ST.—We call attention to the advertisement of this popular wholesale and retail firm. They are in receipt daily of their Spring supplies of beautiful and fancy dry goods. Ladies through their splendid establishment.

For the Sentinel.

"The Mails."—Why can't our worthy Postmaster publish the time for opening and closing the respective mails, so that business men may know the precise time when letters have to be sent or looked for?

The above appears in the Journal of this morning, and, being rather taken with the suggestion, I have inquired of the Postmaster why such publication could not be made. He informed me that he would gladly do so, but that the Post Office Department limited such advertisements to once a month, and that the Railroads changed their time so often that more people would be led astray than benefited. Hence the reason of his not advertising.
